Grüner Veltliner

Grüner Veltliner is a bit of a curiosity in Germany, but a few vines do grow in the Kiedricher Sandgrub, more or less right outside our front door. We couldn't help but wonder about making a sekt from this lively and refreshing variety. The result: limited to 3,000 bottles, with a significantly bigger fan base.

FACTS

VARIETY: Grüner Veltliner

SEKT IDEA: Grüner Veltliner captures the aromas of bottle fermentation – brioche and applesauce – like no other sekt in the VAUX family.

NICE TO KNOW: Each vintage is zero dosage, with no residual sugar: what remains is essential and extraordinary.
